MEMORANDUM

Plaintiff Arthur Wayne White ("Plaintiff" or "White"), a detainee of the United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement ("ICE") Office, who currently is confined at the Pike County Correctional Facility in Lords Valley, Pennsylvania, initiated the above action pro se by filing a form civil rights Complaint.¹ (Doc. 1.) Named as Defendants are Attorney General Eric Holder, ICE, Warden Craig Lowe, and the Department of Homeland Security. White states that he is challenging the constitutionality of his continued detention by ICE for a time period exceeding six (6) months, and he requests that this Court examine the legality of his continued detention and order his immediate release.

It is well-settled that a habeas corpus petition is the proper mechanism for a prisoner to utilize in order to challenge either the fact or duration of his confinement in prison. Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475 (1973); Telford v. Hepting, 990 F.2d 745, 748 (3d Cir.), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 920 (1993). Federal habeas corpus review is available “where the deprivation of rights is such that it necessarily impacts the fact or length of detention.” Leamer v. Fauver, 288 F.3d 532, 540 (3d Cir. 2002). In contrast, a civil rights action is the appropriate mechanism for a prisoner to utilize in seeking monetary, declaratory, or injunctive relief for allegedly unconstitutional conduct.

¹White completed this Court's form application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis and authorization form (Docs. 2, 3) and submitted them with his form Complaint. An Administrative Order (Doc. 5) therefore was issued at the time of filing on March 13, 2012 directing the warden at White's place of confinement to begin deducting the full $350.00 filing fee from White's prison trust fund account. Because the Court will dismiss this action as an improperly filed civil rights action, the Clerk of Court will be directed to vacate the Administrative Order and return to White any monies withdrawn pursuant to that Order.

In the instant action, White is not seeking any type of monetary, declaratory, or injunctive relief, but instead seeks only his immediate release, which is a form of habeas relief. In fact, White already has filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 2241 challenging his continued detention by ICE that currently is pending before this Court. See White v. Holder, Civil No. 3:CV-11-2355. Accordingly, we shall grant White’s request for in forma pauperis status for the sole purpose of filing this action, and his Complaint will be dismissed.

An appropriate Order follows.
